boats will be a sail boat, but the others will be motor boats. A new launch is being built at the yards for G. O. Moon, while Captain Pickernell's new steamer is about ready for the machinery.

Gentlemen, come and look over the latest styles in woollens and see what is to be worn this season. Don't forget the dates—8th, 7th and 8th inst., at C. H. Cooper's.

Dr. M. J. Patton is suffering from a severe case of nervous prostration and has gone to Seaside for a few weeks' rest. He hopes to be able to resume practice by the middle of the month.

A few minor orders were handed down yesterday in the circuit court. Judge McBride went up to Deer Island on the night train but will return to the city at noon today. This afternoon a few cases will be argued before the court.

The grand lodge of Knights of Pythias of Oregon will hold its annual meeting at Seaside October 11. The Knights of Seaside are making extensive preparations to entertain the visiting lodgemen. A clambake will be a feature, and every available fisherman at Seaside has been engaged to dig clams and catch crabs for the feast to be prepared.

Copies of yesterday's Astorian, containing the article on Astoria written by Herman Wise, may be had free at this office wrapped and ready for mailing. Send in names and addresses and the papers will be mailed free. This is a good opportunity to advertise the city, and it costs you nothing. Five hundred copies of the paper were printed for this purpose. Send in the names and addresses.

Astoria will be very well represented at the launch of the battleship Nebraska, which takes place at Seattle tomorrow. Last night S. S. Gordon, P. A. Stokes and A. C. Callan left for the sound city, and this morning Will Madison and H. F. Prael will start for Seattle. Captain Bailey will look after the Astoria delegation, having gone to the sound early to make preparations for the entertainment of his friends from Astoria.

The oriental liner Arabia arrived down the river last night and will depart at 10 this morning for the far east. She takes a cargo of the total value of $301,761. Flour is the principal item on her manifest. She takes 44,322 barrels, worth $177,328. She also takes 2150 boxes of Oregon apples and 1650 bales of cotton, besides other miscellaneous freight. On her last outward trip the Arabia fell in with the Russian Vladivostok squadron, but Captain Bahle hopes to escape any such trouble this trip.

At the meeting of the council last night Councilman Lebeck wanted to know if there was any way to require local psalm-singers to temporarily, at least, find some other location for their nightly gatherings. The singers have been spending all of their time at the corner of Eleventh and Commercial streets and nearby residents have filed complaint. Mr. Lebeck thought the singers should be made to seek other locations occasionally. Auditor Anderson stated that the lady who has charge of the singers interviewed him as to her rights in the premises. Mr. Anderson read to her that section of the charter which provides that persons must "move on" when the police instruct them to do so, and referred her to the mayor for further information. Councilman Kaboth intimated that the singing was of decidedly poor character, and recalled that at the old city hall he frequently was able to hear the singers, but not the auditor when that official was reading the minutes. Mr. Belland said the charter was full of dead ordinances. He remarked that the city had ordinances to cover every offense in the calendar, but that few were enforced, and expressed the conviction that it was about time the city officials were doing their duty. Mr. Belland's comments had the effect of diverting attention from the matter originally under discussion and no action was taken with reference to the psalm-singers.

Rev. C. J. Larson, late pastor of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. church in this city, left last evening with his family for Portland, where he has been assigned to a pastorate. Mr. Larson was the pioneer of his church on this coast, having established the churches in Oakland, Cal., and Portland, Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane and other cities, commencing 23 years ago. Miss Elsie Larson is an amateur violinist of remarkably good promise, whose playing has been highly appreciated by many Astoria audiences. She will pursue her musical studies in Portland.

Just as soon as the necessary plans can be prepared, the work of constructing the new dock for the Callender Transportation Company will be commenced. Charles H. Callender stated last evening that it was the intention to get the improvement under way immediately, and that the dock would be a fine one in every respect. The details have not yet been definitely announced, but it is stated the dock will be so arranged as to accommodate large vessels, as well as the steamers owned by the Callender company. The property is located on the north side of Bond street between Twelfth and Fourteenth.

At today's matinee and continuing during the remainder of the week, a complete change of program will be presented at the Star. The Kisers will appear in an entirely new performance, and their work, which has been so well received thus far during the week, will doubtless afford even more pleasure to theatergoers. Miss Franklin, cornet soloist, will render new selections, and the sketch team Ward and Ward, will also present a new turn. The "fire king" will perform new feats, and Mr. Scott's illustrated song will be a novelty. Of course, the bill will be the best offered in Astoria, and consequently the house will be packed at every performance.

City engineer Tee is of the opinion that the authorities of the city should take immediate steps to punish those careless persons who throw rubbish on the streets, and as well make it necessary for people to remove woodpiles within reasonable time. He called the attention of the council to the matter last night, suggesting that it would be advisable to empower the superintendent of streets to make arrests. Superintendent Kearney could not see things in this light. He said there were enough policemen to make all the arrests necessary. Mr. Morton believed that if one example were to be made of a careless resident the practices complained of would soon cease, and it is likely the ordinances regulating the two offenses will be enforced hereafter.

King and Henderson, the two men who are to be available for duty on the Commercial Club football team when it meets the Multnomah eleven Saturday, were out for practice last night. They had no trouble with the signals and showed up in good form. Henderson will go in at left guard, the one weak point in the Commercial line. King will be a substitute end. Flannigan wrenched his back in last Sunday's game and Painter appears in the lineup as a substitute fullback. The lineup is now announced as follows: Center, Bay; right guard, Gammal; right tackle, Sutton; right end, Regan-Jones; left guard, Henderson-Johnson; left tackle, Blair; left end, Painter-King; quarterback, Stockton; right halfback, Graham; left halfback, Tallant; fullback, Flannigan-Painter.
